

Executive Council Meeting Report

Meetings of July 10 and July 31, 2019

A. The Judicial Nominations

The Governor nominated Attorney General Gordon MacDonald to be the chief justice of the New Hampshire Supreme Court replacing Robert Lynn who reaches mandatory retirement in late August. He also nominated PUC chairman Martin Honigberg to fill a Superior Court judgeship that became open when Judge Ken Brown retired in February of this year. The Executive Council held hearings on both nominations on June 26th.

The hearing on Mr. MacDonald's nomination was especially well attended with a number of judges and lawyers from larger firms testifying in support of the nomination. There was also an unprecedented petition drive in favor of Mr. MacDonald's nomination that was organized by Jay Surdukowski, a lawyer with a larger firm in Concord. On questioning, it turned out that Mr. MacDonald has never tried a jury trial and, as was evident from his resume, he does not have judicial experience. Mr. MacDonald also could not readily explain his office's intervention in the legislature's consideration of a school voucher bill where the official position of the Attorney General about the bill's constitutionality changed without explanation. Opponents objected to the use of state-funded vouchers that could finance religious education. Early in MacDonald's term, a senior assistant voiced similar concerns. After consulting MacDonald, the assistant changed her position in a short, non-public email sent directly to the Speaker of the House. Finally, Mr. MacDonald testified about his lengthy political resume that included positions in which he was chief of staff and legislative director to U.S. Senator Gordon Humphrey when Senator Humphrey sought to amend the U.S. Constitution to reverse Roe v. Wade.

The two judicial nominations were slated for a vote on July 17th. Two days before the meeting, Councilor Pignatelli informed the Governor that three councilors would not support Mr. MacDonald's nomination and the nomination would fail. She asked that the nomination be withdrawn to avoid embarrassing Mr. MacDonald. The Governor refused and, when the Councilors voting in opposition explained their votes, the Governor complained Mr. MacDonald's name was being "dragged through the mud." My opposition to the nomination is explained in a published op-ed available here: concordmonitor.com/Why-I-could-not-support-the-nominee-for-chief-justice-26895023 (hint: no experience, strikingly extreme partisan background, misused the office regarding school voucher law, relationship with the Koch Brothers-funded Josiah Bartlett Center).

After the vote on MacDonald, the Council should have taken up the vote on Mr. Honigberg to fill the vacant trial court position. Instead, the Governor pulled the nomination claiming he thought we should take a “pause.” Informal polling before the meeting established that Mr. Honigberg’s nomination was non-controversial and that he enjoyed the support of all five Councilors.

B. Inaction re: Judges

The Councilors asked at the July 31st meeting if the Governor would return the Honigberg nomination to the agenda for a vote. The Governor refused. I asked if the Governor had set a new deadline for his Judicial Selection Commission to receive applications for the Supreme Court vacancy. The Governor was unaware of this requirement in his Executive Order and had taken no action to re-start the process despite the looming retirement of Justice Lynn.

C. Further Inaction re: Poet Laureate

In March, the Governor nominated a retired dentist to be the state’s next poet laureate. In doing so, he rejected the careful and considered recommendation of the New Hampshire Poetry Society. Three Councilors, including me, advised the Governor that we would not support his nominee and he withdrew the nomination. However, the Governor has refused to nominate a replacement. Initially, the Poetry Society met privately with the Governor and kept their concerns out of public view. After months of inaction, the Poetry Society went public and an article about the dispute appeared in Slate Magazine. The author framed the question as: “On one side: a decorated literary veteran. On the other: a retired dentist who wrote verse about having sex with Condoleeza Rice. Guess whom the Governor chose?”

D. And, More Inaction re: the Budget

The Executive Council does not have a direct role in re-negotiating the budget that the Governor vetoed. The Council cannot require the Governor to negotiate in good faith or negotiate at all. The Council’s only role is to provide its advice to the Governor. However, the Council is also an aspect of government that is designed to make that government more transparent. So, even if the Governor rejects the advice of the majority of the Council and fails to work quickly to negotiate a resolution, the Councilors may ask questions about the consequences of inaction.

I asked the Commissioner of the Department of Health and Human Services if the budget stand-off affects the provision of services and he said that “all services are being provided.” I pressed further noting there are expansions and higher rates of provider compensation in the legislature’s budget. The Commissioner waffled in response. I asked specifically if medical providers have received rate increases while the budget is in limbo and, finally, the Commissioner acknowledged that the increases are stalled. I’ll keep asking questions as the impasse continues.

D. The Breakfast Meetings

Council meetings are generally preceded by an offsite breakfast that starts at 8 a.m. During the summer, the Councilors and Governor take turns choosing the host location consistent with our on-the-road site selection. Councilor Michael Cryans hosted the Governor and Council on July 17th in his hometown of Littleton. Councilor Russell Prescott hosted our meeting in his hometown of Kingston on July 31st when Kingston was celebrating its 325 anniversary. Both host communities provided the Governor and Council with presentations about their rich histories. Two tidbits-Bette Davis summered near Littleton. Josiah Bartlett is from Kingston. He was one of the Granite State’s signers of the Declaration of Independence. His cousin later went on to star in the West Wing.

controversy and that careful study is required to determine the proper economic balance of these activities versus environmental impacts and impacts on property values.

Receipt of “3/12s” Funding (7-31)

The Council approved the receipt of “3/12s” funding for Medicare and Medicaid services from the federal government in the approximate amount of $10 million. The receipt is of only 90 days-worth of funding because the continuing resolution passed by the legislature and the Governor only provides for the continued operation of the state government for that period of time. Commissioner of Administrative Services, Charlie Arlinghaus, explained that the state is in its eighth continuing resolution in lieu of a budget in 70 years and the last, four years ago, was for six months, not three months.

Opioid Response Grant (7-31)

The Council approved the receipt of a pro rata share of the state’s $35 million grant to address opioid abuse in our state. The grant only covers the period through September 30, 2019, the expiration date for the continuing resolution.

State Liquor Commission Point of Sale Software (7-31)

The Council approved 4-1 a contract to support the State Liquor Commission’s point of sales software system in the amount of $1.09 million. I voted against the contract because the Liquor Commission is well behind with this project.

Department of Education Independent Contractor (7-31)

The Council approved 4-1 a contract of $48,000 with Richard Gustufson to act as the “advisor, trainer, coordinator and observer” for site visits for the New England Commission of Higher Education. I voted against the contract.
